

Not To People Like Us: Hidden Abuse In Upscale Marriages

How is it possible for a highly educated woman with a career and resources of her own to stay in a marriage with an abusive husband? How can a man be considered a pillar of his community and regularly give his wife a black eye? The very nature of these questions proves how convinced we are that domestic violence is restricted to the lower classes. Now Susan Weitzman explores a heretofore overlooked population of battered wives—the upper-educated and upper-income women who rarely report abuse and remain trapped by their own silence.
